Knowledge is the foundation. Housing professionals throughout the country consider NHLP's publications, HUD Housing Programs: Tenants' Rights and the Housing Law Bulletin essential to their work in the federal housing programs.

National Housing Law Project's Publications: Your Cornerstone Resources on the Federal Housing Programs

Written and edited by NHLP's expert attorneys, NHLP publications have served as legal advocates' and housing professionals' premiere resources on the federal housing programs for over 40 years. The comprehensive manual, HUD Housing Programs: Tenants Rights and the timely Housing Law Bulletin provide practitioners with cornerstone knowledge of the federal programs.

HUD Housing Programs: Tenants Rights—"The Green Book"

Originally published in 1981, NHLP's Green Book is the practitioner's quintessential guide to fully understanding the laws and rights of tenants in the federal housing programs. The Green Book provides detailed descriptions of all of the HUD housing programs including public housing, the voucher programs, and project-based HUD-subsidized and assisted housing. In an issue-oriented format with clear, concise explanations, the Green Book examines frequently-raised issues such as admissions, evictions, and loss of units and explains less common problems related to grievances, security deposits, and utilities. The Green Book discusses legal issues including causes of action and relief. It provides information on federal grant and support programs such as HOPE VI, CDBG, and the Earned Income Disregard.

The complete set—NHLP's HUD Housing Programs: Tenants' Rights (2004 Ed.) and the complement 2010 Supplement—are now available for $75 savings off regular prices.

NHLP's Housing Law Bulletin

The practitioner's tool for accessing up-to-date news on the federal housing programs, NHLP's Housing Law Bulletin covers legal developments, policy trends, current cases, and major housing reports.

Each Bulletin issue includes thoughtful articles on current issues, a summary of recent federal and state cases, and a listing of new regulations and notices with a brief synopsis for the cited documents. In each December issue, NHLP catalogues your Bulletin library by indexing the prior year's material.

For the legal advocate, the Housing Law Bulletin is a valuable tool for crafting legal representation and litigation. For the housing administrator, the Bulletin is a trusted resource for understanding program changes and the most current operating guidelines.

Legal analysis of commonly litigated issues, strategic information for tenant representation, and legislative history

"The Green Book is a classic! Every edition just keeps getting better. This is an extraordinary resource and an essential addition to every legal aid office library."

Steve Fredrickson,
Advocacy Coordinator, Northwest Justice Project

"...I find the Green Book to be an essential advocacy tool. In short, it is the Bible for low-income housing advocates, and should always be kept close at hand."

Michael Allen,
Counsel, Relman & Associates, PLLC

"Even the most confident of housing administrators needs an authoritative, friendly guide. NHLP's HUD Housing Programs may be the best single source for that purpose. It is impressive in its broad scope and detailed discussion. It provides historical and policy background to illuminate highly technical issues. It is written clearly and is easy to navigate. It provides precise citations to original sources. Anyone puzzling over federal housing law can start and usually end with this manual."

Michael Mirra,
Executive Director, Tacoma (WA) Housing Authority

"The book is exceptional, both in its review of recurring housing policy and its detailed discussion of HUD programs...an essential one-volume reference for the active practitioner or policy maker."

Peter W. Salsich, Jr.,
McDonnell Professor of Justice,
Saint Louis University School of Law

Our organization is truly grateful for the accurate, thorough, and current information on housing policies and procedures that the Green Book provides."
